ACADEMIC STANDING:

NJCTL has established standards for academic good standing within a student's academic program. Students enrolled in any NJCTL online course must receive an 80 or higher to successfully complete a course and receive credit for that course. An 80 is equivalent to a GPA of 2.7 or B-. Additionally, students in an endorsement program must receive a cumulative GPA of 3.0 for all courses combined in order to successfully complete the program.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY:

Students must assume responsibility for maintaining honesty in all work submitted for credit and in any other work designated by the instructor of the course. Academic dishonesty includes cheating, fabrication, facilitating academic dishonesty, plagiarism, reusing /repurposing your own work, unauthorized possession of academic materials, and unauthorized collaboration.

CITING SOURCES WITH APA STYLE:

All students are expected to follow proper writing and APA requirements when citing in APA (based on the APA Style Manual, 6th edition) for all assignments. Resources for doing so can be found here.

OFFICE OF SUPPORT SERVICES STATEMENT:

We are committed to providing reasonable accommodations for all persons with disabilities or other externally verified learning challenges. Any student with a documented and diagnosed challenge who wishes to request academic accommodations should contact the Support Services Coordinator, Stephanie Ramos, for additional information to coordinate reasonable accommodations for students with documented disabilities (accommodations@njctl.org).

NETIQUETTE:

Respect the diversity of opinions among the instructor and classmates and engage with them in a courteous, respectful, and professional manner. All posts and classroom communication must be conducted in accordance with the student code of conduct. Think before you push the Send button. Did you say just what you meant? How will the person on the other end read the words?

Maintain an environment free of harassment, stalking, threats, abuse, insults or humiliation toward the instructor and classmates. This includes, but is not limited to, demeaning written or oral comments of an ethnic, religious, age, disability, sexist (or sexual orientation), or racist nature; and the unwanted sexual advances or intimidations by email, or on discussion boards and other postings within or connected to the online classroom.

If you have concerns about something that has been said, please let your instructor know.

READING SCHEDULE:

Required readings are available within each module by clicking the links where materials are listed under the "Required Readings" tab. Many modules in this course offer choice. The list of readings, podcasts, and videos are inclusive. Students have significant choice in their supplementary materials as noted in the module's PowerPoint.

Links are subject to change. The most up-to-date URLs are available within the course Moodle.

Module	Assignments
1 – Introduction, Background & Terminology	Short Answer (Q&A): Have you ever taught a student like “Bobby” in educator Polly Bath’s short video? What specific challenges did you—or if you have not, might you—have encountered? What did you attempt to help that student? Critical Thinking: Speak with the interventionist, counselor, or a special education teacher in your school or district. What emotional disturbance concerns do they navigate? What options are available to support those students? Write about your conversation and discuss lingering questions that you hope to answer in this course. Your response should be 500-700 words in length and submitted in PDF format.
2 – Understanding Factors that Impact Student Behavior & Our Responses	Short Answer (Q&A): Think of a student that you have now, have had previously, or have read/viewed in case studies. What indications of ACEs or other traumatic experiences did the child exhibit? What methods of self-care do you regularly use? How have they impacted your teaching practices? Critical Thinking: As the culminating project for this course, you will demonstrate your ability to assess student behaviors, identify the underlying causes, and create a targeted behavior modification plan to address these behaviors. This assignment will integrate the concepts and strategies covered throughout the course, showcasing your ability to design effective, evidence-based interventions for students with disabilities. Please see Moodle for full details about the Critical Thinking Assignment. Proctored Assessment 1: Modules 1 and 2
3 –Understanding Dysregulated Emotions & Behaviors in Children	Short Answer (Q&A): Choose one of the diagnoses reviewed in this module. What concerns do you have about teaching students with that challenge? How would you go about alleviating or relieving those concerns? Critical Thinking: Building on the last module, you will continue to work on the components of the culminating assignment for the course. Over the course of a week, collect behavioral data for the student you selected in the last module using direct in-class observation. An "ABC Chart" is attached for you to record the data you observe. To complete this assignment, fill in the ABC Chart and reflection questions after the chart found on Moodle. Then submit it for grading. To protect the privacy of this student, you should use a pseudonym for this project.

4 – Understanding
Dysregulated
Emotions & Behaviors in Adolescents

Critical Thinking:

Behavior Data Collection: Continue to collect data on the student's behaviors using indirect observation methods, including:
interviews with teachers, parents, or other stakeholders, and/or review of student records (IEPs, previous behavior reports, etc.)

This week you will rely on indirect methods of observation to learn more about your selected student's behavior. You may learn more about the history of the student's behavior, previous interventions that have been tried, the context for how these behaviors impact the student in settings outside of school, and more.

Write a reflection of no more than 750 words sharing what you learned about this student based on your review of their records and in talking with other important adults in their life. To protect the privacy of this student, you should use a pseudonym for this project.

Proctored Assessment 2: Modules 3 and 4

5 – Behavior
Supports and Interventions

Short Answer:

Thinking about your classroom, take the Tier 1 subsection of the PBIS Self-Assessment Survey. If you are not currently working in a classroom, you may use one of the unedited high-leverage practice videos and respond as if you were the teacher in that classroom.

In the discussion board, share at least one example of a positive behavior structure that is in place and one that is not. Is the practice in place working? Why or why not? What do you think is needed to set an additional structure in place? Why would you pick that practice?

Critical Thinking:

Behavior Analysis: Based on the direct observations (ABC Chart) and indirect observations (records review and interviews) conducted over the last two modules, analyze the data you collected previously to:

- identify patterns and trends in behavior.
- identify potential triggers (antecedents) and reinforcers (consequences).
- hypothesize the function of the behavior (e.g., attention-seeking, avoidance, sensory stimulation).
- hypothesize about some interventions that might help this student.

Write a reflection of 600-750 words discussing your thoughts on the bullets above, as well as any additional analysis of the student's behavior that is important. To protect the privacy of this student, you should use a pseudonym for this project.

6 – Behavioral Assessments and Interventions

Short Answer (Q&A):

Thinking about the data you've collected on your selected student over the course of the last several modules, discuss the following. What challenges did you discover as you worked to gather data? What data could you not find? What could you do differently when you next observe a student's behavior?

Critical Thinking:

Based on your assessment of the data collected on your student in previous modules, create a concise plan that addresses the identified behavior. Include each of the components below. To protect the privacy of this student, you should use a pseudonym for this project. Please see Moodle for further details about this assignment.

	Proctored Assessment 3: Modules 5 and 6
7 – Final Reflection	Critical Thinking: Full assignment prompt and requirements are posted in online course
